

FREE PEER GRIEF SUPPORT · EASTERN OREGON

Your child doesn't have to grieve alone

When someone important dies, kids can feel like no one else understands. At Cason's Place, they spend time with other kids who do. It's free, and families from all over Eastern Oregon are welcome.

WHO IT'S FOR

Kids, teens, and the adults raising them

- Kids ages 5 through high school who have had a parent, sibling, grandparent, friend, or anyone important die
- Their parents, caregivers, or trusted adults, who meet in their own group at the same time
- It's never too late. The death can be recent or years ago.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE

Talking time and play time

- Small groups led by trained volunteer facilitators
- Art, games, and activities that help kids remember and share
- A separate space for teens
- We're not therapy. We're a place to be with people who get it.

When and where: 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month, 6:30 to 8:00 PM, following the school year. 1416 SE Court Avenue, Pendleton. Always free. If travel is a barrier, we can help with gas.

Getting started is simple

1

Reach out. Call, text, or email us. You don't need the right words. Just say you're looking for support.

2

Short intake visit. We get to know your family and answer your questions before your first night.

3

Come to group. Kids and adults each have their own group. Come as often as it helps.
